

Flashback - Katie Couric on Attending Epstein Dinner Party: 'I Didn't Know Anything About Him at the Time'

'I was invited to go to this dinner at Jeffrey Epstein's house'

News & Politics

EXCERPT:

COURIC: "I was invited to go to this dinner at Jeffrey Epstein's house, and George Stephanopoulos was going to be there, and it was right before Kate and William got married, and I thought, ooh, I better go, because it was in honor of Prince Andrew. And I thought, I better schmooze Prince Andrew. If George is, I need to get in there. And I didn't know anything about Jeffrey Epstein at the time, and it was super weird. What can I say? And the person I was with said, did you notice how young the girls were who were taking the coats? And I said, I really didn't. But of course, later, we found out everything about him."
